EXPLANATION OF AND RATIONALE FOR PROPOSED CHANGE

For new program, please include any relevant supporting documentation such as student learning outcomes, projected enrollments, letters of support and departmental handouts. (Use additional pages if necessary).

- 1) Update core course requirements to reflect changes that will be made by new course/course change applications that are being submitted concurrently to:
 - a. Change NUTR 300 to NUTR 200 and increase from 3 to 4 credits
 - b. Create a permanent course number (NUTR 400) for the Nutritional Sciences seminar previously required as NUTR 490.
- 2) Add a recently approved course, NUTR 310 Nutrition and the Life Course, to the core course list and allow students to tailor the curriculum by choosing 2 out of 3 core courses (NUTR 302, 303, 310). In addition to increasing course options for students seeking a biology/physiology or pre-health emphasis, this will help address some of the schedule conflicts that have prevented students from successfully integrating the minor requirements with their major course schedule.
- 3) Update the list of approved electives to reflect recently approved NUTR courses and allow students to apply extra quarters of the NUTR 400 seminar (which may be taken up to 4 quarters) or extra core courses completed beyond the required number to count as electives. Maintaining a diverse selection of electives allows the minor to complement many different majors. (Currently, students declared in the minor represent more than 20 majors).
